Representative Longworth Takes Wife to Alexandria in Automobile.

Little Girl Secures Autograph of Bride—President Sends Note.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Just about 9 o'clock this morning, when everything along the Tennyson road, which leads to Friendship, was in a somewhat state of confusion, Mrs. Longworth made a dash for the finish of their honeymoon, and dashed away in an automobile to Alexandria.

Mrs. Longworth promptly alighted from the car at the station platform. She had on a gray traveling gown, trimmed with red. As she clung to the arm of her husband most of the longers at the station did not seem to recognize her.

The old black mammy who runs the restaurant at the station came up, and, courtesying, asked if she could give her breakfast.

"Thank you, we have had it," replied Mrs. Longworth, while her husband studied the horizon for the appearance of inquisitive persons.

BRIDE GIVES AUTOGRAPH. As they paced up and down the platform, a little girl of Alexandria, daughter of one of the railroad employees, asked the bride if she would give her autograph.

"Certainly I will; where is your pencil?" replied Mrs. Longworth.

Pencil and paper were quickly produced, and Mrs. Longworth wrote her name, "Mrs. Longworth," on the paper.

"Now get his," she said, pointing to her husband.

Beneath the name of his wife, Mr. Longworth wrote his signature and the date. The little girl then thanked them both, and went away happy.

NOTE FROM THE PRESIDENT. Shortly after 11 o'clock, Thomas Stans, chief usher of the White House, arrived from Washington and received a cordial greeting from Mrs. Longworth. He brought a note from the President, which she quickly opened and read, and, calling for a pencil, wrote a reply. The baggage had been taken from Washington, but several pieces were brought along in the automobile.

IN THEIR PRIVATE CAR. Just then the train, to which was attached their private car, Elvian, stalled in, and almost before it stopped they swung aboard. From the forward car came a swarm of local newspaper men and photographers, but these were too late, and all they saw was the outside of the car and the closely-drawn curtains, with the uniformed attendants keeping watch over the platform at either end. Mr. Longworth did not let the servants carry his suit case or that of Mrs. Longworth, and had his hands full walking the length of the train with two suit cases, a cane and an umbrella.

THEIR DESTINATION. Although it has been stated that the Longworths will go to Palm Beach for a season, there is a story here that they will give the crowd the slip for the third time, and escape by way of Tampa to Cuba. It is said they will go to Havana, which point they expect to reach Thursday morning. They expect to visit California a little later.

ANOTHER TRIPLET STORY. STAMFORD (CT.) Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. William McCuskey gave birth to triplets here yesterday morning, at 11 o'clock, and they were named Alice Roosevelt McCuskey, Mary Longworth McCuskey and Clara Louise McCuskey. Alice died last night, ten hours after her birth. McCuskey is a carpenter, and has been married but a short time. He "has heard" that the President has offered a prize of $1000 for the first triplets, one of whom shall be named after his daughter, and the carpenter will put in his claim for the money. He has wired to Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, notifying them of the arrival of Alice and her sisters.

Nephew of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston Played "Powder Monkey" on the Union Side.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] James Vincent Johnston, who died last night, was probably the youngest person to take part in a battle during the Civil War. His father, Capt. John F. Johnston, brother of Gen. Albert Sidney Johnston, the Confederate leader, fought on the Federal side as a naval officer.

Capt. Johnston, in February, 1864, was in command of the United States gunboat Forest Rose. There had been so little trouble on the Mississippi that naval officers were permitted to receive visits from their wives on board the vessels. Capt. Johnston's wife and little son, Jim, who was six and a half years old, were on board one day when the vessel was attacked by Confederates. Mrs. Johnston and Jim were placed in the cabin and the boy was tied to the table to prevent his going on deck.

"Jim" released himself and made his appearance just as the head of the "powder monkey" was carried away by a cannon ball. "Jim" took his place, and carried powder to the gun until the rebels were defeated.

CANAL TOPICS
IN EXTENSIO.President Sends to Senate
Letters and Reports.He Concurs in Recommending the Lock System.Supreme Court Decides Bitter Root Lumber Case.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The President today transmitted to Congress the report of the Board of Consulting Engineers upon the Panama Canal, together with the letter of Secretary Taft, the report of the Isthmian Canal Commission, and a letter by Chief Engineer Stevens. The letter of the President is as follows:

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

I submit herewith the letter of the Secretary of War, transmitting the report of the Board of Consulting Engineers upon the Panama Canal, and the report of the Isthmian Canal Commission, together with a letter written to the chairman of the Isthmian Canal Commission by Chief Engineer Stevens. Both the Board of Consulting Engineers and the Isthmian Canal Commission divide in their report, the majority of the Board of Consulting Engineers, eight in number, including the five foreign engineers, favor a sea-level canal; and one member of the Canal Commission, Admiral Endicott, takes the same view. Five of the eight American members of the Board of Consulting Engineers and five members of the Isthmian Canal Commission favor the lock canal, and so does Chief Engineer Stevens.

The Secretary of War recommends a lock canal, pursuant to the recommendation of the majority of the Board of Consulting Engineers and of the majority of the Isthmian Canal Commission. After careful study of the papers submitted and full and exhaustive consideration of the whole subject, I concur in this recommendation.

AMERICANS FAVOR LOCKS.

It will be noticed that the American engineers upon the consulting board and upon the commission, by a more than two-to-one majority, favor the lock canal, whereas the foreign engineers are a unit against it. I think this is partly to be explained by the fact that the great traffic canal of the world is the Suez Canal, a sea-level canal, whereas the great traffic canal of the new world is the Panama Canal, a lock canal. Although the latter, the Suez, is closed to navigation during the winter months, it carries annually three times the traffic of the Panama Canal. In my judgment, the very able argument of the majority of the Board of Consulting Engineers is aided by their failure to pay proper heed to the lessons taught by the construction and operation of the Suez Canal.

It must be borne in mind, as the commission points out, that there is no question of building what has been picturesquely termed "the Straits of Panama," that is, a waterway through which the largest vessels could go with safety at uninterrupted high speed. By the sea level and the proposed lock canal it would be two narrow and shallow to be called with any truthfulness a strait, or to have any of the properties of a strait, or to be a waterway through which the largest vessels could go with safety at uninterrupted high speed. But, in my judgment, the advantages are fewer and the disadvantages are many greater in the case of a lock canal than in the case of a sea-level canal.

COMPARISON OF FEATURES.

A careful study of the reports seems to establish a strong probability that the following are the facts: "The sea-level canal would be slightly less exposed to damage in the event of war; the running expenses apart from the heavy cost of interest upon the amount employed to build it, would be less; and for small tonnage the time of transit would probably be less. Upon the other hand, the lock canal, at a level of eighty feet, would not cost much more than half as much to build, and could be built in about half the time, while there would be very much less risk connected with building it, and for large ships the transit would be quicker, while, taking into account the interest upon the amount saved in building, the actual cost of maintenance would be less. After being built, it would be easier to enlarge the lock canal than the sea-level canal. Moreover, actual demonstration in making and operating the great lock canal, the Suez, a more important artery of traffic than the great sea-level canal, the Suez, goes to support the opinion of the minority of the consulting board of engineers and of the majority of the Isthmian Canal Commission, that the superior safety, feasibility and desirability of building a lock canal at Panama.

The law now on our statute books seems to contemplate a lock canal. In my judgment, a lock canal, as herein recommended, is the one which the Congress directs that a sea-level canal be constructed, its direction will, of course, be carried out. Otherwise the canal will be built on substantially the plan for a lock canal outlined in the accompanying papers, such changes being made, of course, as may be found actually necessary, including possibly the change recommended by the Secretary of War as to the site of the dam upon the Pacific side.

Taft gives Reasons.

(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Secretary Taft transmitted the committee's report and the accompanying documents to the President, summarizing closely the conclusions of the majority and minority, which respectively favored a sea-level and a lock canal.

He called attention to the fact that the act of Congress in effect fixes the minimum dimensions of the locks and width and depth of the canal prism by the requirement that the canal shall accommodate the largest vessels afloat or such as may be reasonably anticipated. As two ships now building, which are 600 feet long, 85 feet beam, and 35 feet draft, can be passed through the locks proposed by the minority, he says it is evident this requirement is met.

The Secretary says: "In the high-level canal, a vessel of the dimensions noted would have, with the exception

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Another effort to frighten into line the opponents of the Statehood bill, as provided in the House bill now pending before the Senate, was made today in the House, but whether or not the opponents of the bill are sufficiently frightened remains to be seen.

Representative Littlefield of Maine called up his bill prohibiting gambling in the Territories, and providing for punishment by a $200 fine and one year's imprisonment for those who violate the law.

Stating that in Arizona and New Mexico and other Territories, gambling is licensed, Mr. Littlefield entered a motion to suspend the rules and pass the bill reported from the Judiciary Committee. The bill is entitled "An act to prohibit gambling in the Territories, and to provide for punishment by a $200 fine and one year's imprisonment for those who violate the law."

Mr. Smith declared that there was no pure motive behind the bill; that it was for the purpose of influencing votes in Arizona for joint Statehood, and contended that the Territory would prohibit gambling at the next session of the Legislature. He said he would ask unanimous consent to amend the bill so as to restrict it to apply to the Territory of Alaska, the Philippines, Porto Rico, the District of Columbia and all other Territories.

In reply, Mr. Littlefield exhibited considerable feeling, declaring that he "tried to treat him like a gentleman, but the first thing he does is to meet me with a snarl. I do not propose to be swung aside on this debate on prohibition in Maine. He knows as little about the case as every gentleman who casts the same aspersions."

Later Mr. Littlefield refused to allow Mr. Smith to interrupt him. This led to a second statement by Mr. Smith that it would be clear that he was not making a defense of gambling.

After a heated debate the bill was passed without a yeas-and-nays vote. It seemed all were content to have it go to the Senate, where it will be considered by the Judiciary committee. It is not thought that it will scare any of the Senators who are opposed to the joint bill into voting for it.

Captain Abram Jones, of 174 East Thirty-sixth street, Los Angeles, Cal., tells an interesting coffee story, and says he can be publicly quoted:

"I drank coffee all my life," he says, "and took no harm, I thought, till about 10 years ago, when a variety of ailments attacked me one after the other."

"First came a disordered stomach, followed by palpitation of the heart, which was very severe, some attacks lasting four or five hours at a time. Then my bowels got out of order, and I suffered from chronic constipation. This ran on for some years."

"Finally I quit the drugs and struggled along the best way I could, taking the advice of friends but never getting any better. At last I was taken so seriously sick that I had to go to bed and the doctor told my family I could not recover."

"While I lay in this condition a friend suggested that I try drinking the old kind of coffee and try Postum Food Coffee—to see what it would do for me. He said Postum had pulled him through when he was similarly afflicted."

"I took his advice, quit coffee and drank Postum, and in two months' time was in good health. I was so elated at the result that I told my doctor about it. He wasn't very well posted on facts at that time and said that he did not believe that leaving off coffee and using Postum had anything to do with my improved health, but that it was due to good medicine and good advice from the family doctor; that my sickness had worked out of my system the disease conditions that had been developing for several years; that I could now look forward to good health for some time to come, and that I had better resume coffee drinking, in moderation, and thus save my family the trouble of preparing an extra table beverage every day."

"I took the doctor's advice, stopped the Postum and began drinking coffee again. The result was that all my old troubles came trooping back, and I was soon once more seriously ill. Then I became alarmed, and swore off coffee for good and all, and resumed the use of Postum, and got well again."

"My health is now as good as it ever was. My dyspepsia is gone, I never have heart trouble any more, my bowels are in good working order, and all the little ills that go with the big ones have disappeared. It is now five years since I quit coffee and began to use Postum, and in all that time I have not paid one cent for medicine."

Walk-Over

"The world's best $3.50 and $4.00 shoes."

The name Walk-Over suggests supremacy—the first of these shoes was made in 1880. Look where you will, you find better $3.50 and $4.00 shoes. Go where you will, you can't find better Walk-Over shoes. These famous shoes for men and women have penetrated every quarter of the globe and have gained such world-wide popularity that 15,000 pairs are required to supply the demand.

There isn't a desirable style of shoe nor a worthy kind of leather that isn't represented in the Walk-Over line. Mail orders carefully handled for style.

KNOX AMENDS BILL.

AND PRESIDENT APPROVES.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) Feb. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Taking advantage of his selection as the President-elect, Senator P. C. Knox has amended the measure to suit his own ideas, and the White House and talked over the matter with the President. From information sent to Pittsburgh, it was learned that the President concurred in the amendment.

W. P. Wilson, as roughly drafted, and that Mr. Knox will now proceed to perfect the bill.

Senator Knox, in the course of an interview with a newspaper correspondent, refused to discuss the character of his amendments, but again referred to his Pittsburgh speech, in which he declared that radical modifications would have to be made in the bill if he were to support it.

TRIP OF FEDERAL JUDGES.

TRIMBLE HAS SUSPICIONS.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Feb. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Judge Trimble, chief justice of the Oregon Railway, discussed the bill, and questioned before the Senate trip to Tampa, which a recent Federal judge, Phillip Pollock, had taken. Judge Trimble, who took as guests of the Oregon Railway, of the Santa Fe and other general solicitors for railroads.

Trimble said the railroad would not have invited them had they not been "dope" in the sum-of-the-bait."

TWO-CENT FARE ONLY.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The railroads in Ohio have practically decided to cut off all forms of transportation except the regular passenger rate provided by law. This decision was reached in Chicago today at a conference of passenger representatives of all railroads with lines in that state. It was agreed that by eliminating everything except the regular fare the railroads could, in a measure, recover themselves for loss caused by the new law.

CITY WINS BATTLE FOR RIVER WATER.

Judge Gibbs Declares the Ranchers in Suit by Municipality to Quiet Title to Rights in the San Fernando Basin.

San Fernando Valley water was decided yesterday in the case of the City of Los Angeles against the San Fernando Basin. Judge Gibbs, in his decision, declared that the city of Los Angeles is entitled to the water of the San Fernando Basin, and that the ranchers who have been using the water for their own purposes are in violation of the law.

The case was consolidated, viz: The City of Los Angeles vs. The San Fernando Basin. The city of Los Angeles is entitled to the water of the San Fernando Basin, and the ranchers who have been using the water for their own purposes are in violation of the law.

Dainty woodland dells, massive oaks, stately palms and peppers, tangled vines and an atmosphere redolent with the fragrance of orange blossoms form a perfect setting for the magnificent homes and costly street improvements which characterize Oaklawn.

The "captivating type" of property—the kind that has made Southern California famous.

Only 25 minutes from Los Angeles; 5 minutes from Pasadena business center. Car service soon to be improved; will bring Oaklawn within 15 minutes of Sixth and Main, Los Angeles.

Oaklawn is one of the grandest view points in Los Angeles county. The only ordinary feature about Oaklawn is the price of lots—much lower than they OUGHT to be.

Nearer 4th and Broadway (via trolley) than many "high priced sections" of Los Angeles. Just a step from some of the most notable mansions in Pasadena.

"Pasadena's

The Reason For It

Since the advent of Victor Talking Machines, dealers on the Pacific Coast have always maintained a certain range of prices, varying from $2.50 to $5 in excess of Eastern prices. This extra charge has depended upon the size and weight of the machines, and is intended to cover the cost of transportation from the factory to the Coast.When large shipments are made the freight on each machine does not amount to anything like this figure.
We buy in large quantities, and see no reason why we should not extend to the public the saving thus afforded.We have decided, therefore, to place this department of our business on the same basis as all other departments, selling the goods at Eastern prices and paying the freight ourselves.This move is in accordance with our regular business methods. Whenever it is possible to save the public a dollar, and at the same time give quality, it is our policy to save it—and the public can rely upon us to do so.

CITY AND COUNTRY.

AND REBUILD.Carmelites to Take Hold of Great Old Ruins.Mission San Fernando the Next Restoration.Scene of Pomp in Years Long Agone.Following close upon the announcement of the completion of plans for the restoration of Mission San Juan Capistrano, which now lies in ruins, comes the still more interesting news that Mission San Fernando is to be rebuilt.Bishop Conaty is negotiating with the Carmelites for the accomplishment of this move, and it is almost a certainly that they will undertake the restoration and occupation of the mission.It is probable this extensive work will be begun the ensuing summer. The ten-year lease of the Landmarks Club will expire in August, but it is understood that the church can secure possession at any time it wishes for carrying out the restoration.

CRUMBLING RAPIDLY.

Very timely is this move for restoration. Year by year the historical old pile has been crumbling rapidly away.
Year after year the encroachments of the land fillers, and the vandalism of tourists, carried on, it is said, to a shameful degree, have wrought havoc, and even the efforts of the Landmarks Club have been unable to stay the disintegration of Mission San Fernando.The Carmelites are a folk of almost infinite patience; they have wrought in silence in lands where they have suffered persecution and the fiercest opposition, and their efforts have brought forth noble works for the beautification of the lands. They will glory in the opportunity to take up the work at the old mission.While their plans are not completely outlined, it is understood the Carmelites intend to establish community life in the old cloisters and to at once restore the old mission chapel. Theycome under their influence in the work of various skilled trades, making of them proficient artisans, and giving them instructions in the best methods of intensive farming and horticultural work. It is certainly true that they will find plenty of raw material for their efforts in this line.One hundred acres was the amount of land surrounding the old mission which the church held for many years.
Finally, in order to secure sufficient water rights, Bishop Mora purchased a tract of nineteen acres adjoining the 100 acres. This includes all the land which formerly was inclosed with the high adobe walls, many portions of which are still standing.

SAD PICTURE OF DECAY.

A visit to the mission as it stands today reveals a sorrowful picture of decay and unseemly ruin. The once noble chapel, with its heavy beamed ceiling and red-tiled roof, is stored half full of bales of hay. The woodwork, all except the heaviest timbers, has been removed for indifferent uses around the grounds, or has been carried away for firewood by Mexicans who found it an easy source of supply.

Some mystery surrounds the death.Bouquet lived with his wife at No.

have been devoted to each other. The husband spent Sunday looking at prop-tended to return to his work yesterday.About 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning, George Smith, a neighbor who is a druggist, was called by Mrs. Bouquet, who said her husband was sick. Smith hastened to the apartments and found the young man suffering severely from pains in the stomach. Dr. Murray Johnson was summoned.After the arrival of the doctor, Bou-quet was seized with a violent attack of vomiting. This continued until about 1 o'clock, when the stricken man turned to his wife, who was at the bedside, and said: "Don't worry little wife, I'm all right."As he finished the sentence, Bouquet fell back on his pillow, dead.When a Times reporter called at the house yesterday afternoon, the family declined to give any information con-

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Warned that application for a writ of mandamus was about to be made in the Superior Court the Assistant City Attorney yesterday asked that it be withheld, intimating that the City Clerk may be instructed to proceed under the old statute; this is hailed by many as the raising of the public works blockade.

J. M. Call and his Citizens' Committee yesterday paid their respects to the Council and the Mayor and reported a water-haul.

On Wednesday afternoon the Council Committee of the whole will meet for the purpose of fixing rates for gas electric and telephone service during the coming fiscal year.

City Engineer's statement yesterday afternoon reported to the Council that his department is two years behind with public work, and that there are little prospects of catching up.

The attorneys for the defense in a suit for damages to a woman's gown that was splattered with plaster from a wagon, set up the unique plea that the garment was not modest, in that there was none like it at the White House wedding reception.

Old John McClure, who shot and killed a man in a quarrel over a halter, and who carried the case to the Supreme Court in vain, was sentenced yesterday to be hanged.

Los Angeles men were successful yesterday in bidding on the large issue of common and high school bonds.

H. C. Young of the "Commercial Employment Agency" was arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses and was held in $500 bail.

AT THE CITY HALL.

HOPE TO RAISE THE BLOCKADE.

ATTORNEY MAY PERMIT PUBLIC WORK TO PROCEED.

Asks that Filing of Mandamus Application be Withheld and Intimate that Clerk may be Instructed to Proceed Under Old Statute—Committee Reports a Water Haul.

Welcome as a bubbling spring in the midst of the desert came the news yesterday afternoon to the City Hall that the blockade of public improvements bids fair to be raised.

Warned by an article in The Times Saturday morning that attorneys might attempt to appeal to the courts for mandamus proceedings to compel the City Clerk to advertise for bids, Assistant City Attorney Gault yesterday asked the attorneys, Rogers & Brown, to withhold their suit until today—intimating that the City Clerk is likely to be advised in the meantime to proceed with the advertisement.

Little last night the City Clerk's Leland said that he had received no instructions from the City Attorney, but there is still time this morning for the clerk to proceed before suit is actually filed.

This is the crucial point in the Board of Public Works controversy, if the City Attorney will decide that the Council has not lost jurisdiction over public improvements, and will not file suit until the Board of Public Works is organized, then the chances for securing a board this spring are about as remote as those that the Panama Canal will be finished before the Fourth of July.

If the court will hold that the Clerk and the Council must proceed under the old charter provisions, then the City Attorney will have no interest in the Mayor-Council public works controversy.

But if public work is to be tied up while the Mayor and Council call each other names, then the property owners are likely to take a hand.

Edwin Harrington, owner of a large tract of land at Western and Western Avenue, is the plaintiff in the suit which Attorney Rogers & Brown expect to file yesterday, and which will be filed this morning if the City Attorney's office advises the Clerk to proceed under the old statute.

The committee advises that the Mayor and Council play their game of cross-purposes. The petition to the court asks that a writ of mandamus be issued requiring the City Clerk to publish notices of the street work on West Twelfth street and to advertise for bids for the same.

Under the latest charter amendment specifications should be advertised by the Board of Public Works. The suit would settle once for all the question if the old officials have lost jurisdiction, or can lose it under the successors are appointed and qualify.

The consensus of opinion at the City Hall yesterday afternoon was that the City Attorney will advise the Clerk to advertise for bids, and the Council to award them, proceeding under the old statute until the Mayor and Council agree on the new board.

City Attorney Mathews left yesterday afternoon for Washington, D. C., to argue a water-utility case before the Supreme Court of the United States. Mr. Hewitt, his assistant at the City Hall, said last night that he received no instructions from his superior relating to the public works controversy.

Five weeks ago Mr. Hewitt advised the City Clerk not to advertise for bids for any new street work. Robinson, Perkins and Humphreys are the names which the Mayor yesterday submitted to the Council as his appointments on the Board of Public Works.

This time he added two paragraphs to the usual message of appointment, the first explaining that he has given of his attitude in the present controversy. They are as follows:

"I think it is due the public that I should say officially that I have the highest regard for and confidence in the committee chosen some days ago by the meeting of citizens at the Chamber of Commerce, and trust that their sound judgment and high standing in the community may bring about a solution of the problem which we are confronted. But I have not yet received any report or suggestion from the committee, and therefore, feel that it would be neither courteous to them or fair to the gentlemen whose names are herewith presented, to offer any other names at this time to the Council for confirmation.

"I have herewith submitted names of three gentlemen whom I consider well qualified for the positions tendered to me, and can see no reason why I should make any change, unless at the suggestion of an unopposed body, such as I believe the citizens' committee to be; and with whom I desire to act in harmony, and by whose judgment I shall be largely influenced, when I am officially advised of the same."

For and short were the words the Council said; the slate was rejected with unanimity and precision, the product of long training. Earlier in the afternoon J. H. Call and five members of his citizens' committee filed quietly into the Council chamber and took seats in the foyer.

Mr. Call tipped up to President Sumnerland and whispered mysteriously in his ear. Spooked Sumnerland shut his eyes and made passes in the air. "It's no go," he confided to Healy. "Call's on the wrong tack. I don't want to go into another trance, but Sumnerland broke it up by suggesting that the Council go into executive session with the citizens' committee."

In order that this might be done unofficially the Council took a twenty-minute recess and went out to play. Politics? Well, possibly so.

Locke and the citizens' committee, the Council and the citizens' committee diplomatically discussed the situation.

"It's a serious condition of affairs that confronts us," said Chairman Sumnerland. "The Council only desires to do what is best for the interests of the city. That is the motive that actuates our every action—what have you fellows to propose?"

replied Mr. Call. "We realize that the city is standing on the threshold of prosperity and that for you and me, whether we shall go forward or backward. The eyes of future generations are upon us—what are you fellows going to do about it?"

Came another leaf from one of Sumnerland's old campaign speeches, following up by the query "What you got to offer?"

Followed a bit of rate discussion from Call, concluding with "What's your idea?"

This extended into the sixteenth chapter without a suggestion from either side.

For diplomatic suggestion they had David Harum backed off the boards. Then the Council filed back into its own chamber and the committee marched in to the Mayor. More diplomatic suggestion.

"You can call me an oyster," said Mr. Call after this conference. "We have accomplished nothing material as yet—and I would not be at liberty to divulge it if we had."

"Our committee will keep at work tomorrow, and the next day, and the day after, then we may have something to say."

"No power on earth could induce me to talk to a reporter tonight," was the answer of the Mayor to the advances of the representatives of the press.

But the message went out over the underground wires from the hall that the committee is divided among itself and that no suggestion for ending the deadlock was made to either the Mayor or the Council.

Mr. Call found himself somewhat hampered by his committee in the conference with the Mayor. After the rest of the party had left the hall Mr. Call and the Mayor continued their understanding they locked it up in the big vault with a time-lock attachment.

WILL FIX RATES.

COUNCIL DELIBERATES.

Rate regulation of gas, electric light and telephone service will be considered by the Council committee of the whole at a special meeting in the Council chamber Wednesday afternoon.

Gas Inspector Jordon and City Electrician Manahan yesterday filed parallel reports with the Council. Neither went into the details of the approximate cost of gas or electric-light service.

A city ordinance requires that the Council shall fix the rate on a line on the rate which the utility companies may charge; this rate must be named before March 1. It will go into effect July 1.

The Home Telephone Co. declined to submit a statement of its business, the attorneys for the companies holding that as the rates are named in the franchise the Council has no power to alter them.

City Attorney Mathews does not subscribe to the contention of the officers of the company are now defending themselves against misdemeanor complaints.

When the Council meets as a committee Wednesday the statements of the companies, then the property owners are likely to take a hand.

Edwin Harrington, owner of a large tract of land at Western and Western Avenue, is the plaintiff in the suit which Attorney Rogers & Brown expect to file yesterday, and which will be filed this morning if the City Attorney's office advises the Clerk to proceed under the old statute.

The committee advises that the Mayor and Council play their game of cross-purposes. The petition to the court asks that a writ of mandamus be issued requiring the City Clerk to publish notices of the street work on West Twelfth street and to advertise for bids for the same.

Under the latest charter amendment specifications should be advertised by the Board of Public Works. The suit would settle once for all the question if the old officials have lost jurisdiction, or can lose it under the successors are appointed and qualify.

The consensus of opinion at the City Hall yesterday afternoon was that the City Attorney will advise the Clerk to advertise for bids, and the Council to award them, proceeding under the old statute until the Mayor and Council agree on the new board.

City Attorney Mathews left yesterday afternoon for Washington, D. C., to argue a water-utility case before the Supreme Court of the United States. Mr. Hewitt, his assistant at the City Hall, said last night that he received no instructions from his superior relating to the public works controversy.

Five weeks ago Mr. Hewitt advised the City Clerk not to advertise for bids for any new street work. Robinson, Perkins and Humphreys are the names which the Mayor yesterday submitted to the Council as his appointments on the Board of Public Works.

This time he added two paragraphs to the usual message of appointment, the first explaining that he has given of his attitude in the present controversy. They are as follows:

"I think it is due the public that I should say officially that I have the highest regard for and confidence in the committee chosen some days ago by the meeting of citizens at the Chamber of Commerce, and trust that their sound judgment and high standing in the community may bring about a solution of the problem which we are confronted. But I have not yet received any report or suggestion from the committee, and therefore, feel that it would be neither courteous to them or fair to the gentlemen whose names are herewith presented, to offer any other names at this time to the Council for confirmation.

"I have herewith submitted names of three gentlemen whom I consider well qualified for the positions tendered to me, and can see no reason why I should make any change, unless at the suggestion of an unopposed body, such as I believe the citizens' committee to be; and with whom I desire to act in harmony, and by whose judgment I shall be largely influenced, when I am officially advised of the same."

For and short were the words the Council said; the slate was rejected with unanimity and precision, the product of long training. Earlier in the afternoon J. H. Call and five members of his citizens' committee filed quietly into the Council chamber and took seats in the foyer.

Mr. Call tipped up to President Sumnerland and whispered mysteriously in his ear. Spooked Sumnerland shut his eyes and made passes in the air. "It's no go," he confided to Healy. "Call's on the wrong tack. I don't want to go into another trance, but Sumnerland broke it up by suggesting that the Council go into executive session with the citizens' committee."

In order that this might be done unofficially the Council took a twenty-minute recess and went out to play. Politics? Well, possibly so.

Locke and the citizens' committee, the Council and the citizens' committee diplomatically discussed the situation.

"It's a serious condition of affairs that confronts us," said Chairman Sumnerland. "The Council only desires to do what is best for the interests of the city. That is the motive that actuates our every action—what have you fellows to propose?"

replied Mr. Call. "We realize that the city is standing on the threshold of prosperity and that for you and me, whether we shall go forward or backward. The eyes of future generations are upon us—what are you fellows going to do about it?"

Came another leaf from one of Sumnerland's old campaign speeches, following up by the query "What you got to offer?"

Followed a bit of rate discussion from Call, concluding with "What's your idea?"

This extended into the sixteenth chapter without a suggestion from either side.

For diplomatic suggestion they had David Harum backed off the boards. Then the Council filed back into its own chamber and the committee marched in to the Mayor. More diplomatic suggestion.

"You can call me an oyster," said Mr. Call after this conference. "We have accomplished nothing material as yet—and I would not be at liberty to divulge it if we had."

"No power on earth could induce me to talk to a reporter tonight," was the answer of the Mayor to the advances of the representatives of the press.

But the message went out over the underground wires from the hall that the committee is divided among itself and that no suggestion for ending the deadlock was made to either the Mayor or the Council.

JOCKEY THROWN AT ASCOT PARK.

HAPPY LAD BREAKS FROM BUNCH AND UNSEATS RIDER.

Miss May Bowditch, at Twelve to One, Wins First Race Easily—Lawsonian, Strong Favorite in Futurity Event, Comes in Third, Heavily Backed by Talent.

The only real excitement at Ascot yesterday was in the third race, when Happy Lad, with Buchanan up, attempted to break away from the bunch at the turn coming into the stretch, and threw his rider heavily to the ground. For a moment it looked as if Buchanan could not escape injury, but as the horses passed he was seen to rise from the ground, unhurt.

In the futurity, Lawsonian, opening at 6 to 5, and closing at 7 to 1, came in third, and put the talent considerably out of pocket. He was beaten by Mill Song by two lengths, who, in turn, was beaten by Antares by three lengths. Results:

Six furlongs, selling: Miss May Bowditch, 105 (Palma), 12 to 1, won; Tenderfoot, 105 (McDaniel), 4 to 1, second; Bailey, 105 (W. Miller), 8 to 1, third; time 1:14 1/2. Smithy Kane, Miss Affable, The Goldfinder, Gondolus, Hobson's Choice, My Surprise, Jennie F. Young Hyson, Las Cruces and Lady Witt also ran.

Four and a half furlongs, selling: Alonzo, 105 (Preston), 5 to 5, won; Joan of Arc, 105 (Kent), 18 to 5, second; Hot Cakes, 105 (Mortimer), 15 to 1, third; time 1:03 1/2. Katchen, Indiana, Capt. Jarrell, Dr. Cook and Cutaneous also ran.

One mile, purse: Morita, 100 (McDaniel), 5 to 2, won; Line of Life, 105 (A. W. Hooker), 3 to 1, second; Workman, 100 (Miller), 2 to 1, third; time 1:39 1/2. Felipe Lugo, Hippocrates, and Ponca also ran.

One mile and fifty yards, selling: The Huguenot, 105 (W. Fisher), even, won; Rubicon, 90 (Preston), 4 to 1, second; Cottillon, 97 (Moore), 12 to 1, third; time 1:44 1/2. Hot Freesia, Salina, Walnut Hill and Watson also ran.

MANY CARS ENTERED IN BIG HILL CLIMB.

A SUFFICIENT number of entries have been made in the Pasadena hill-climbing contest, which will take place Thursday, to insure not only an excellent comparative test of various makes and grades of cars, but attract attention of the automobilists of this and neighboring cities. The fact that Thursday is a holiday will enable many persons to attend or participate who otherwise would be obliged, by reason of demands of business to remain away.

The number of private cars which will enter makes the event one of greater interest, because it makes it more than an effort of dealers to show the alleged superiority of their cars. Instead of an out-of-door trade show it will be a real contest over an almost ideal course and under conditions such as any automobilist might meet on any road. The road is such that there will be no interference from traffic because there is plenty of room. It is expected that automobile enthusiasts will come from as far as Santa Barbara and Riverside to witness the climb.

There will be six events. Following is the list of entries: First event—Runabouts costing $1000 and under: Dr. Brown's 22 h.p. Buick (No. 18); R. Passavant's auto car (No. 15); F. A. Bennett's 14 h.p. Ford (No. 11); E. J. Bennett's 16 h.p. Wayne (No. 10); Gale Auto Company's 18 h.p. Gale (No. 9).

Second event—Runabouts costing $1500 and under: Dr. Brown's 22 h.p. Buick (No. 17); F. A. Bennett's 14 h.p. Ford (No. 12); G. L. Garland's 14 h.p. Franklin (No. 1).

Third event—Open contest for runabouts, including any car with stock body tonneau removed: D. C. McCann's 28 h.p. Franklin (No. 23); R. D. Ryan's 18 h.p. White (No. 7).

Fourth event—Touring cars costing $1500 and under: Hamilton's 22 h.p. Buick (No. 18); W. K. Cowan's 18 h.p. Rambler (No. 4); Smith & Anthony's 24 h.p. Elmore-Pathfinder (No. 3); D. L. World's 18 h.p. Reliance (No. 31).

Fifth event—Touring cars costing $2000 and under: Western M. C. Co.'s 20 h.p. Stevens-Duryea (No. 19); R. C. Hamilton's 22 h.p. Franklin (No. 27); W. K. Cowan's 18 h.p. Rambler (No. 5); Smith & Anthony's 25 h.p. Elmore (No. 2); E. H. Haver's 24 h.p. Fryer-Miller (No. 20); L. Wilson's 20 h.p. Stoddard-Dayton (No. 14); H. L. Oliver's 20 h.p. Stoddard-Dayton (No. 13); Success Auto Company's 20 h.p. Winton (No. 6).

Sixth event—Touring cars costing $2500 and over: E. C. Anthony's 25 h.p. Pope-Toledo (No. 28); Western M. C. Co.'s 25 h.p. Pope-Toledo (No. 21); F. R. Thomas's 20 h.p. Thomas (No. 22); Thomas Hughes's 20 h.p. Thomas (No. 23); R. C. Hamilton's 20 h.p. Franklin (No. 24); H. D. Ryan's 18 h.p. White (No. 8); H. M. Zier's 24 h.p. Packard (No. 34); Arrowhead Hotel Company's 20 h.p. Thomas (No. 25); A. R. Busun's 24 h.p. Packard (No. 26).

Candling Breaks His Neck. NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 19.—City Park results: Three and a half furlongs: Odd Trick won, Bludale second, Little George third; time 1:41 1/4. HURT ON ANKLE, DIES IN AGONY.

MYSTERIOUS INJURY FATAL TO SAN BERNARDINO BOY.

Only Outward Sign is Small Red Spot, Which Causes Intense Pain and Later Leads to Unconsciousness and Convulsions—Physicians Suggest Spider Bite or Tetanus.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN BERNARDINO, Feb. 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Injured in some mysterious manner on the ankle, while playing in a hay mow at his home Saturday afternoon, Edmund Secombe, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Secombe, Upper picture shows rear of tender of Limited No. 3 off the rails, and sharp curve the train passed. Below is shown the drop at the curve.

died at his home here tonight, having been unconscious in frequent and violent convulsions since early yesterday afternoon.

Physicians were completely baffled by the case, one doctor believing the boy's condition the result of a spider bite, while another thinks he contracted tetanus, possibly by striking a rusty nail.

When the boy first complained, his mother found a small red spot on the ankle. Not supposing the injury serious, home remedies were resorted to, but the leg commenced to swell, and when convulsions and unconsciousness developed, physicians were summoned, all to no avail.

Wong Nim, the richest Chinese merchant in the local Mongolian section, will be arrested tomorrow morning, charged with aiding, abetting and assisting Harry Bennett, alias Isaac Wines, in his attempt to smuggle "yen shee" into the County Jail. Wines, a confederate of the sheriff, declares Wong Nim sold him the yen shee, and directed him to buy bigdies, spread the "dope," knowing it was to be smuggled into the jail.

DESERT CLEWS TO MURDER.

Was Alexander Radmacher murdered? This is the query of friends of the old miner. He has not been seen since 1928. The finding of a placer miner's outfit and other articles of Radmacher's have awakened interest. The belief is strong that the outfit found last week on the desert points to the conclusion of the case, the slayers, probably having abandoned the outfit where it was found, in anticipation of the discovery which has just been made.

The last seen of Radmacher was at a point fully twenty-five miles from the place where his outfit was found, and it is known that he was bound in an opposite direction. Therefore arises the difficulty of accounting for the presence of his outfit on any other theory than that he was abandoned by the country well, and realized that he was bound through a waterless region, the slightest deviation from the path meaning to court death.

Several old prospector friends of the missing man have gone to the desert to look over the outfit found by the two Riverside men, and upon their inspection will depend future action on the part of the authorities. It is probable that the skeleton found some time ago by another party a few miles from the spot where the outfit was discovered, will be examined and brought in for a close inspection by experts, to ascertain if death was due to violence. That the skeleton was that of Radmacher is believed to be certain.

WHEELS ON O'C 3 RAIL.

Passengers on the Santa Fe west-bound limited No. 3, which had a night wreck yesterday near Victorville, say it was almost a miraculous escape from a terrible smashup. The train was rounding a sharp curve at a rate of speed said to have been twenty-five miles an hour, when the engine tank dropped and rear wheels of the tender left the rails. According to one traveler, the train ran a hundred yards and got around the curve before the engineer discovered the difficulty, else he would have applied the emergency brakes and piled the fast train in the ditch. There is a sheer drop of fifty feet at the place where the tender left the rails.

It is claimed the whole track was shifted six inches outward for some distance, and the loose gravel bank itself moved many inches, crumpled and broken. One eye-witness says that for perhaps 100 feet all the ties on the outside were cut off, while the wheels did not touch the inside rail.

SEEKS DAMAGES FOR COLT.

E. F. Merryfield has commenced suit against O. H. Blegen to recover $100 damages, which Merryfield alleges he sustained through the loss of a black colt which he pastured with Blegen. The colt had broken from the pasture, and was picked up by another man, who sold it to a South Colton rancher, who in turn disposed of it to a mountain teamster. In the hard work on the mountain, the colt was seriously injured. It had been a blooded animal, and died of hard work.

SAN BERNARDINO BRIEFS.

Amelia Corvantes, alias Emma Patterson, charged with arson, is having turned her house at Chino to recover the insurance, will be arraigned in the Superior Court next week. The authorities state that the death of Jose McFarlane yesterday will have no effect upon the prosecution of the woman for arson, although it frees her from prosecution on the charge of killing Lillie Smith.

James Andrews, a printer, escaped from the Southern California State Hospital for the Insane at Patton yesterday, and up to a late hour had not been found. He has spells when reason is completely flown, and though he is not violent, yet he is at those times likely to commit suicide.

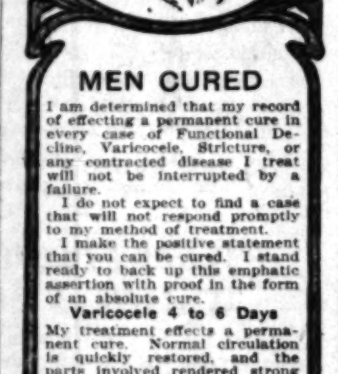

Coroner Pittman was summoned to Colton this afternoon to examine into the death of Louis Mueller, who was found dead in a Southern Pacific freight car. Death is supposed to have been due to poison, a bottle containing some deadly drug having been found nearby.

Daniel Rice, who is said to be a

MEN CURED
I am determined that my record of effecting a permanent cure in every case of Functional Decline, Varicocele, Stricture, and any contracted disease, I treat will not be interrupted by a failure.

I do not expect to find a case that will not respond promptly to my method of treatment. I make the positive statement that you can be cured. I stand ready to back up this emphatic assertion with proof in the form of an absolute cure.

Varicocele 4 to 6 Days
My treatment effects a permanent cure. Normal circulation is quickly restored, and the parts involved rendered strong and healthy. It is effective and certain.

Functional Decline
My method of treating this condition is an effective means whereby functional activity may be restored without resorting to drastic stimulants which derange the functions of the stomach. I remove the cause responsible for the disorder.

Men, It's Free

Ask me to send you, sealed, free, a book just completed, which will inspire any man to be bigger, stronger, younger (if he is old) and more manly than he ever felt. I am a builder of men.

I can take any weak, puny man and make him feel like a Sandow. Of course, I can't make a Hercules of a man who was never intended by nature to be strong and husky. I don't mean that.

But I can take a man who started with a fair constitution and before he got fully developed began tearing it down. That fellow is weak, nervous, slow, poky, lacking in vim, ambition and self-confidence. I can make a man of him in three months so that his own friends won't know him.

Every man who is weak and "going back" knows that there ought to be a something which will restore that old "steam" to his physical body. He has tried the usual drug method and found that a fizzle, and yet he knows there must be something.

It knows it, too, and I've got it. It's Electricity. You can't name anything more likely to have that force which a weak man lacks. It's a natural power. I can pump it into a weak man while he sleeps and make him feel like a Sandow in no time. It's the spice of life.

I want you to read this book and learn the truth about my arguments. If you are not as vigorous as you would like to be, if you have rheumatic pains, weak kidneys, loss of vitality, prostate troubles, nervous spells, varicocele, or any ailment of that kind that unnerves you, it would assure you future happiness if you would look into this method of mine. Don't delay it; your best days are slipping by. If you want this book I send it closely sealed free if you include this coupon. Call for free consultation. Office hours—8 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sundays, 10 to 1.

Put your name on this coupon and send it in. 5-20-05

TO RESTORE FERNANDO.

owed by the 100-year-old mission olive trees, lives Setimo Moraga and his little family of wife and two "niños." Moraga is a real product of the mission. He was born in one of the mission buildings, as were his mother before him, and her mother before her. With olive pickings, rancho lemon gathering Moraga finds all the employment he wishes—enough to supply the simple needs of the little family, and he has no ambition to leave the place which has always been his home.

SCENE OF POMP.

Probably at none of the California missions was there more pomp and "high life" than at the Mission San Fernando. There the government located troops of soldiers, and life at this mission was far from the one of somber coloring which attaches itself to some of the Franciscan settlements. In the military quarters, there was feasting, an offset to the fasting of the padre. Many notable and historical gatherings were held at this point.

San Fernando was an important point in the chain of missions. For the purpose of completing this chain from San Diego northward, it was necessary to establish a post between San Gabriel and San Buenaventura, and the authorities selected the place known as called by the Indians "Achola Comihavi." This selection was made on September 3, 1797.

Father Superior Lasuen, assisted by Padre Francisco Dumetz, in the presence of troops and a large number of Indians, dedicated the new mission, San Fernando Rey de España.

At the opening of the mission Father Francisco Javier Eris became associated with Father Dumetz, and both labored there until after 1800. Ten children were baptized the first day, and thirteen adult Indians were received into the mission in October. The first marriage was solemnized at this mission, October 3, 1797.

The adobe church was blessed in December, 1806. During the first decade of the mission the neophytes increased to 850, and the deaths were a little more than half the number of baptisms.

In 1804 a controversy arose over the land boundaries, and the Franciscans successfully protested against the granting of Camulos Rancho to Francisco Avila.

On December 21, 1812, the same year that Mission San Juan Capistrano was destroyed, an earthquake shock cracked the church walls so seriously that thirty new beams had to be placed to support the walls, and in 1813 the new chapel was completed.

ONCE THOUSAND ON ROLLS.

Mission San Fernando reached the highest figures in its population in 1813, when there were 1000 people on the mission rolls.

The mission lands originally extended ten leagues east and west from the town of San Fernando, and five leagues north and south from the rancho San Francisco de la Mission and Simi towards San Gabriel and Santa.

The mission was confiscated in 1824, and Antonio del Valle as comisario, took charge of the estate. During the whole of its occupation by the Franciscans there were 2329 baptisms, of whom 1415 were Indian adults, and 181 were Indian children, and fifty-one were children "de razas." There were 2028 deaths, and 348 marriages, of which fifteen were "de razas."

The mission was restored to the fathers in 1825, and there were 200 Indians there at that time. It was again taken by the government through Pio Pico in December, 1845, and leased to Andrew Pico and Juan Manos at an annual rental of $1120.

On June 11, 1846, Gov. Pio Pico sold the mission to Eugene de la Balle for $14,000, and he was to support a mission and supply the necessities for divine worship, and also to give the Indians the use of the lands they occupied during their lifetimes.

The last of the Franciscans to reside at the Mission San Fernando was Padre Blas. When the church finally came into the possession of the mission again, there were but 100 acres of the once magnificent principality held by the Franciscans. This, however, covers the sites of all the main buildings.

THE RESTORES.

The Carmelites, who will come to restore this mission, are but little known in this part of the country. The order's beginning is shrouded in mystery and has given rise to many discussions in theological circles.

Its authentic history begins at the period of the Crusades to the Holy Land, in the twelfth century, when the religious hermits of Mount Carmel were united into one congregation through the efforts of Almeric of Mailay.

The Carmelites hold all their goods in common, and private property is entirely excluded. The order spread throughout Europe, and in 1212 it founded monasteries in England. The members of the order were known as the "White Friars" because of the color of their mantles.

At one time the order was almost exterminated in the East by the massacres and oppression of the Mohammedans. The Carmelites came to America in 1664 from Bavaria, and were received by Bishop Moen of Leavenworth, Kan. They soon spread to other States, and a provincial house was established at New Baltimore. The settlement at San Fernando will be the first in this territory.

BLOCK SOLD AGAIN.

Solomon Property and Other Realty Goes Rapidly—Two Sales on Main, Many Elsewhere.

Mines & Farish yesterday closed up a big deal on South Spring. Some weeks ago this firm sold its old Solomon block, 126, 132, 134 and 140 South Spring, 60x147½ running back to Center place to a syndicate of local operators. The sale yesterday conveyed this property to Florence Schloss and Nanette Amelia Meyerfeld of San Francisco for $124,000. The rents are $12,000.

These leases still to run five years. Mrs. Meyerfeld is the wife of the theatrical man of Bay City. These premises are not for a theater at this time.

M. N. Newmark, L. L. Jacoby and Otto Meyer have bought a tract of nine acres, G. White place on Alameda street and Station avenue for $22,000. The sale was made by Abraham Jacoby.

George J. Cote reports the sale of a bungalow No. 1925 Santa street, for $2800, Los Angeles Building Company to J. Wilfred Baudey; also to John Disenauki, a bungalow at No. 1969 same street for $2800.

The following sales are reported for John Halzlip to George Bryner, 28x123 lot, improved with small building on the west side of San Pedro street, about 300 feet south of Fifth street, for $12,000; for George Bryner to John Halzlip a lot with twenty-foot frontage on the west side of San Pedro street, just south of Sixth street, for $6000; for S. A. Bulfinch to Maude M. Bancroft, 17x101 with 430 room house, for $12,000; for Mrs. Nellie McCurdy to J. N. Agran, a lot 54x120 feet on the east side of Olive street, just north of First street, for $10,000; for John B. and Fannie L. Brown to Mrs. A. F. Rule,

Lamburger's

Lace Curtains Worth to $2.00 98c Pair

2000 pairs of choice new Nottingham lace curtains, Irish point, Renaissance and Cluny effects; some with plain backs; others in small designs; are 50 inches wide and positively worth to $2.00.

Women's Shoes Worth to $3.50 Pr. $1.95

All broken lots and odd lines of values to $3.50; are of vicid kid, lace, button or Blucher styles; turned or welted soles; patent or stock tips; opera, military or Cuban heels; not all sizes of a kind but all sizes in the lot.

$1.50 White Lawn Shirt Waists 98c

The remainder of the 300 dozen that were offered as a Monday special; are in ten styles; long or short sleeves; trimmed with embroideries or lace insertions; open front or back; but there is not a one in the lot worth less than $1.50.

Women's New Covert Jackets $6.50

They are just as good as others are showing at $8.00 to $10.00; are in the popular short fitted style; trimmed with self strapping and buttons; satin-lined and are a much-wanted garment for early spring wear.

New Wash Embroidered Grenadines, yd. 39c

A white open mesh weave with large silk circles and blocks; in black, pink, blue and Nile. For really stunning waists but few of the much higher priced fabrics will compare with them, and none of them certainly are prettier or better.

$5.00 Taffeta Silk Petticoats At $3.95

Figuring the cost of any kind of taffeta by the yard, it would cost you more than the sale price to make a petticoat, yet we offer you these petticoats in choice of the wanted colorings, plain or changeable effects, also black; finished with deep self-trimmed flounces, at much less than the value of the material.

a lot on the north side of First street, next west of the corner of First and Grand, for $800; for McKee-Meyer Investment Company to D. B. Pressler, a lot in the Reesmont tract, Brooklyn avenue and Cummings street, Hygie Heights, for $1200; for same company to P. G. Tompkins, three lots in the Reesmont tract for $750; for F. C. Wolfe to Paul C. Hancock, property at No. 771 San Pedro street, 60x125 feet, improved with six-room cottage, for $10,000.

Mines & Farish and O. W. Childs report the sale of a lot 60x140 feet on the northeast corner of Main and Adams street with stores and rooms above for $22,000. The rents are $115 per month. The buyer is Miss Hortense C. Childs, the seller George W. King.

Mines & Farish and Jones & Ryder report the sale of 1710, 1712 and 1714 South Main, 60x120 feet with three stores for $30,000. The seller is Mrs. W. W. Hitecock and the buyer Alexander Keating.

TOURISTS' RECEPTION. Tomorrow afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock the Woman's Christian Temperance Union federation will tender a reception in Blanchard Hall to all tourists now in the city—all who care to go. Fearing this invitation might be interpreted as meaning only those who are members of the W.C.T.U., the ladies emphasize their wish that it shall be understood to be to all strangers in the city and their friends.

The programme includes three addresses of welcome by Mrs. H. T. Griffith, president of the federation; Mrs. G. T. Hickney, county president; and Mrs. Emma Cash, State president. The response for the visitors will be made by Mrs. A. S. Benjamin of Michigan.

The musical programme will include a solo by Mrs. J. B. Brown, song by the Oliver Quartette and a duet by Mr. and Mrs. F. I. Wheat.

The roll of States will be called, and speakers will respond with five-minute speeches.

DON'T DOSE THE STOMACH Cure Catarrh by Breathing Hyomei

There is one treatment for nasal catarrh which is based upon common sense, and at the same time is thoroughly scientific.

Hyomei is not a cure-all: it is a specific for the cure of catarrhal troubles. Breathed through the nasal pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit, the aromatic healing of Hyomei penetrates to the most remote part of the nose, throat and lungs, healing all inflammation and killing the catarrhal germ wherever present.

The complete Hyomei outfit sells for $1.00, and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a lifetime, and if more Hyomei is needed, extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents.

It is the most economical of all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only one that treats this disease without stomach dosing, applying the medication and healing where the disease germs are present.

Do not dose the stomach to cure nasal catarrh; breathe Hyomei. If you cannot obtain Hyomei of your dealer, it will be forwarded by mail, postage paid, on receipt of price. Write today for a free sample bottle and consultation blank that will entitle you to services of our medical department without charge. The R. T. Booth Company, Hyomei Building, Ithaca, N. Y.
